

Hi. You may or may not know me, but I can guarantee you don't know a thing about the following characters because I do not talk about them to anyone ever.

These guys are the first batch of Homestuck OCs I ever made way back in early 2016 when I first finished reading the comic. I've made quite a number of characters since, but these guys hold a special place in my heart and could use their own shiny new coats

I'll be very briefly describing the process of each character's creation, their role in the story or dynamics with other chars, and showing off some old crusty art from my teen years.

Thanks for reading! ♡

Her sign was this hexagon-honeycomb thing I came up with because bees

FIOREL

Fiorel was originally my trollsona, and a self-insert character allowing me to date my favorite OCs. I was 15, give me a break.

She had bees incorporated into her design because my name means "honeybee" in Greek, but she was an olive blood purely because my favorite color is green.

This is technically my first home-stuck drawing ever (if I don't count that one teeny ms paint dave head)

Rough, I know

even then i did not approve
me

and her trollhandle was buzzingRoyalty, a play on "queen bee". Sound familiar?

(there's nothing royal abt the character btw i just thought i was being clever. and i liked it enough to keep it this long so good for me ig...!)

This horn shape has no significance, i just kinda slapped some curves together and was like "oooo kewl"

"got it in one" pride

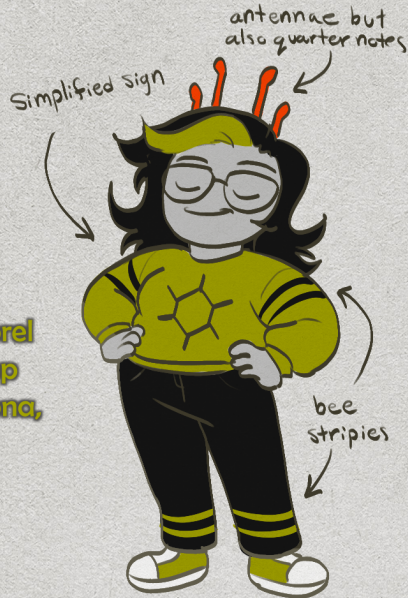

Her lus was a combination of a bee and my actual dog, Mia, with huge cool feathery wings. She's called Miangel cuz its like Mia + angel and pronounced like how youd say "mi ángel" in Spanish.

a Page of Blood, like myself (for now)

Eventually I would strip Fiorel of her bee bits and develop them into my current trollsona, Melisa Sopran.

FIOREL LEUPUS

← floppy puppy ears

With the bee parts transferred that leaves us with a winged doggy lus, so I attempted to lean into the doggirl brand.

← puppy dog nose sign

pointy-uppy doggy ears

Since this redesign is fairly recent and I like it, we won't change much!

Name etymology:

"Fiorella" is an Italian name that means "little flower"

"Canis Lupus" is the scientific name for wolves

Fiorel's role in the story will remain the same, she is the one who will bring 4 humans to Alternia so they can assist her and her friends with their issue.
More on that later!

MEDUSA

A chill snake chick who loves to mind her own business.

She is teeechnically in a moirallegience with Fiorel, but after becoming matesprits with Purrsa just kinda.... forgot? This is not the first time she's done this, she has a tendency to only put focus into one quadrant at a time. Realizing this, Fiorel tries to discourage anyone pursuing Medusa in any quadrant for Purrsa's sake.

Little does she know they are all hiding out together in one of these ghost towns not too far from her own base in an abandoned seadweller city. Jilian's less talkative, less motivated other half. While they still retain the title of moirails, they haven't acted as such since childhood. Fin is similarly mourning a lost loved one, but he doesn't get to air his frustrations like Jilian does.

Really, they should all be off-planet by now. But with Jilian's behavior causing every other highblood in their general vicinity to move out, there's no one around to enforce their departure. Name etymology:

She is named after Nikola Tesla, famously underrated inventor

NIKOLA

Nikola was an aspiring young creative who's life was cut short before she could reach her true potential. She came up with the schematics that would allow public Trollian communication across planets and was working on a project that would allow transportalization through chat clients. She was Finedd's secret matesprit, knowing Jilian wouldn't approve of their relationship.

Before she passed, she left the blueprints with her closest friend, Fiorel. Fiorel has since put them to use in hopes that she can provide means for the humans she's been communicating with to travel to Alternia and assist in eliminating the threat of the violetbloods so she and her friends can reenter society.

R.I.P. girlies

JEANNE

Jeanne was the heiress to the Alternian throne and just might've taken it, too, were it not for the freak accident that killed her. She was in a very one-sided moiralligance with Nikola, being extremely overbearing and coddling towards the goldblood. Jeanne was quite a toxic kismesis to Jilian as well, causing the latter's dependency and possessiveness to the former.

When Jeanne found out about Nikola's projects, they got into a heated argument that resulted in Nikola's psionics becoming erratic and unintentionally killing Jeanne. Jilian had witnessed this, and without context assumed Nikola's instincts were a planned assassination. Jilian executed Nikola without hesitation. Finedd was left to lament the death of his matesprit in silence, and their moiralligance was never the same.
